

A godsend to urban dwellers and their leisure time

The shared food experiences are gushing forth with Morsø's new initiative: An electrically operated grill that provides the many balcony owners with the opportunity for preparing their food in the open. The Balcone is so practical that it can be used in even the smallest of spaces.

Thanks to Morsø's new grill, which is designed for hanging from a railing or being placed on a table, it has finally become possible to cook on own balcony. The Balcone requires neither coal nor gas or any other source of open fire. All it requires is an electrical outlet. It is not just the way of starting up the grill that is revolutionising, it is also its size. With a width of 45 cm and a depth of 27 cm, it is perfect for hanging from the railing – at an excellent working height.

Bringing along your Balcone

Weighing no more than 8.6 kilo, it is an obvious choice for bringing along on weekend trips and holidays. Likewise, when the ordinary address is exchanged for trips into the wide open spaces with caravan or boat – or at the allotment, the Balcone is also the ultimate grill, because it is easy to transport, hang and prepare for dinners, gatherings, and wonderful experiences of nature.

In addition to its power source and size, the Balcone is equipped with the cast-iron cooking grate that is so familiar from the other Morsø programmes – a grate, providing the optimal foundation for cooking, regardless of whether the dishes are based on meat, fish, or vegetables, because cast iron will conduct and distribute heat evenly and slowly. In addition, cast iron can reach extremely high temperatures, which is decisive for the correct preparation of meat.

Grilling all year round

Balcone is made of sturdy and durable materials, as it is intended as the family's, the couple's, or the single's focal point all year round. Therefore, the Balcone is introduced with Morsø's innovative cover in waterproof polyester for protection against the elements.

As of March, the Balcone will be available from Morsø's Danish distributors and on morsoe.com.

More about Morsø

In 1853, the young N.A. Christensen quit his job as a bookkeeper to embark on an iron foundry adventure. An adventure, that took its beginning in a factory building in Nykøbing Mors. Despite tough competition from other foundries in other towns, the then small group of smiths, turners and joiners were destined to create an icon that would extend far beyond Morsø, the North Jutland town of origin. An icon, created through innovation and based on design construction, quality, and fine craftsmanship and which for this reason will always be a safe and secure feature in our homes – in Denmark and abroad. An icon that we all know by the name of Morsø.
